

Erie Aviation at the Aircraft Interiors Expo in Hamburg, Germany

Once again you could find Erie Aviation as an exhibitor at the Aircraft Interiors Expo (AIX) that is held every April in Hamburg, Germany. This time we were part of the large group stand set up by Hanse Aerospace – a trade association we have just joined that represents about 140 aerospace companies with most of them located in Hamburg and Northern Germany.

Erie Aviation was represented by Kelly Frederick (Director – Sales), Baljit Narayanan (Business Development – Asia-Pacific) and Harald Aamodt (Vice President).

Many of our European Suppliers have their own stand at this show, so our booth serves as a second focal point for them, as a means to capture customers' attention so we can bring them to meet with our suppliers. Partner companies like asscom aeronautic support services, ESW, Innovint Aircraft Interiors and Paustian were also at the Hanse Aerospace stand. Elsewhere at the show you could find Erie Aviation suppliers like Diehl Aerospace, Franke Aquarotter, Green Sky Europe, Rheinmetall Defence Electronics and Vision System Aeronautics.

The AIX has developed into the premier venue for aircraft interiors and has sister shows that alternate between Hong Kong and the US. For us it is a great opportunity to represent our suppliers and also explore new opportunities. You will find us later this year at the Aircraft Interiors Expo in Long Beach, CA (September 9-11) and we'll also be back in Hamburg in 2009.
