

Erie Aviation signs contract with Madelec Aero

In June, the General Manager of Madelec Aero, Jean-Louis Quirin, signed a distribution and repair agreement with Erie Aviation, Inc. for the USA and Canada. The two companies will work together to provide full aftermarket support for Madelec's products installed on Airbus, ATR and Bombardier aircraft, and they will also pursue opportunities for new installations in commercial, corporate and VIP aircraft.

Madelec Aero has great expertise in the application of LED and flat light technology in aviation. You'll see their products used in cabin illumination and also in such safety areas as a floor escape path markings, in flat emergency ceiling lights and in all sorts of illuminated signs.

They also have several specialty products:

Icing indicators – illuminated visual indicators mounted so they can be observed from the cockpit

Illuminated chart holders – often mounted to the control wheel

Autobrake selector switch – used to set the rate of the autobrake's action

We'll present their products in detail at this website in the next few weeks, so please check back in with us again.

Madelec Aero is located in Rambouillet just outside Paris.
